Ceramics: 100 Faces Project

My personal ceramic series begin with conversation. meet people, exchange stories and encouragement, and translate their faces into bespoke ceramic mug that carry their personality. It later evolved into an ongoing commission practice.

Becoming a Tree

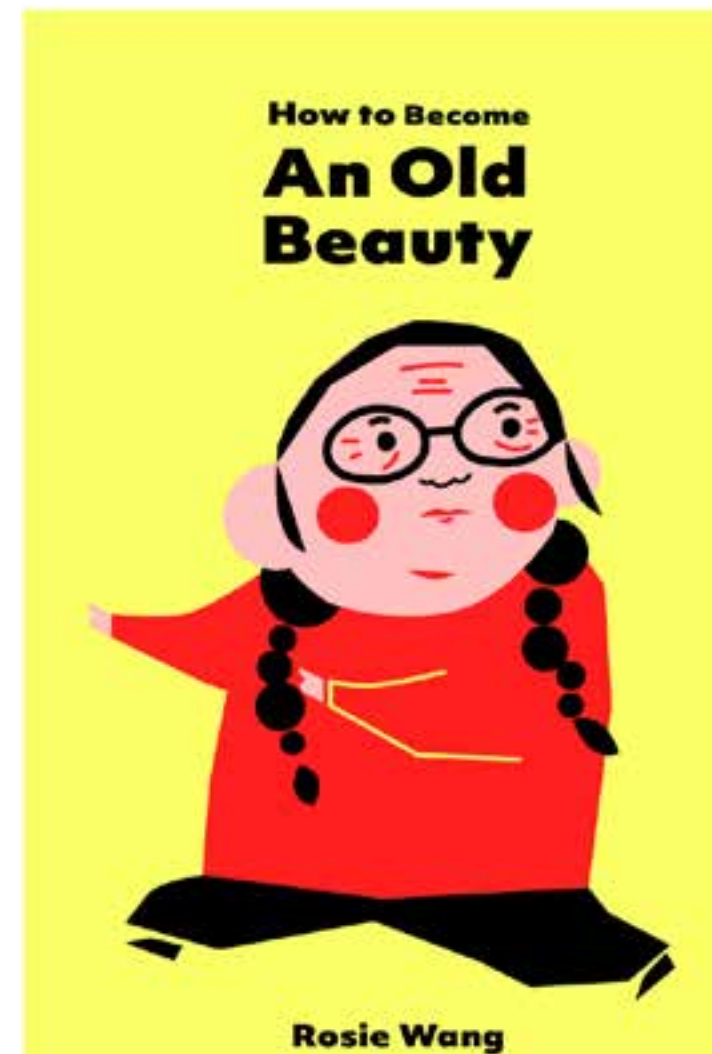

A spontaneous documentation of my experience of becoming a tree in the Edinburgh Botanic Garden. Standing beside the tree, I wrote poems, then transformed into ceramics.

How to become an old beauty

My grandma is a TikTok influencer known as an "Old Beauty," I developed a set of daily action cards for older people to do every day. The project uses her as a character to challenge stereotypes around ageing through playful, everyday actions.

Hi.

I'm Rosie's grandma. People online call me "Old Beauty."

I'm 70, but I'm a TikTok creator, a singer, a performer, a dancer, and a farmer.

I believe growing older doesn't mean slowing down. Life can still be playful, bold, and full of surprises.

Draw a card each day, and give it a try. Follow me, you can become an old beauty too.

Picture this

I collaborated with a Netherlands based social science researcher to visualise a study on how gender expectations change or stay rigid after migration, focusing on Somali and Eritrean refugees in the Netherlands. I produced two editorial style illustrations comparing origin and host country contexts.

Internship works for Xiaohongshu

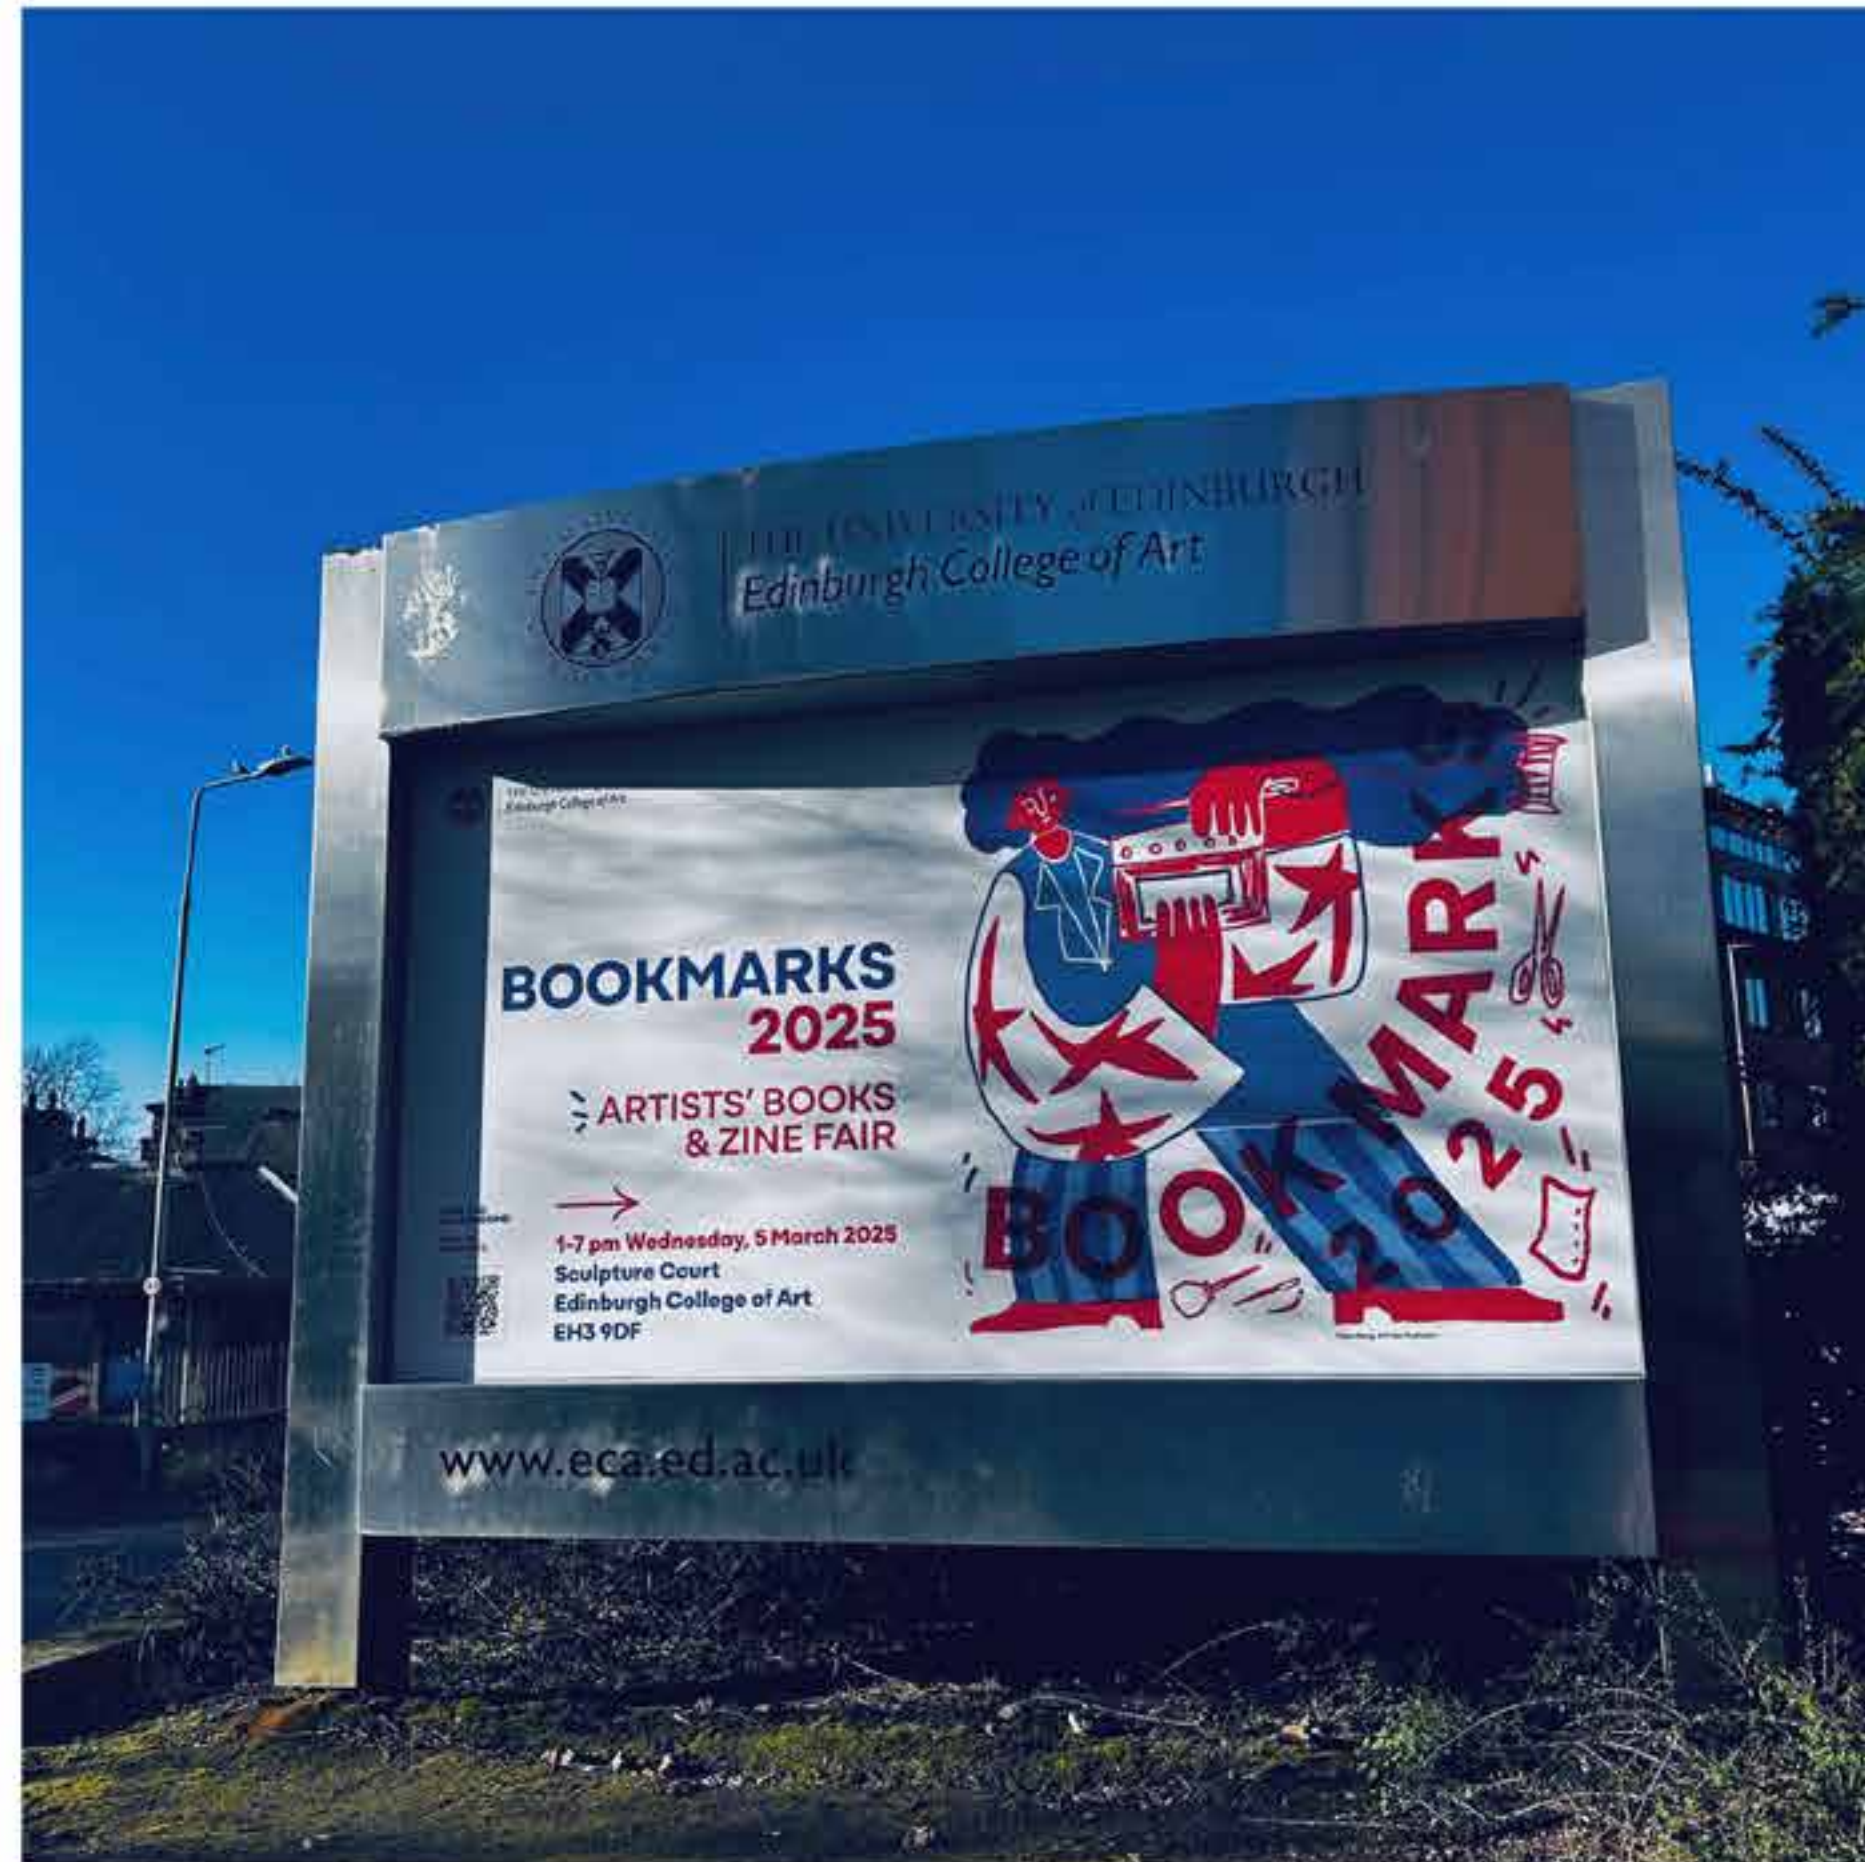

During my internship at Xiaohongshu, I strengthened my graphic design skills and contributed to multiple large scale event key visuals, all delivered and implemented across official channels.

Bookmarks

Art fair key visual design

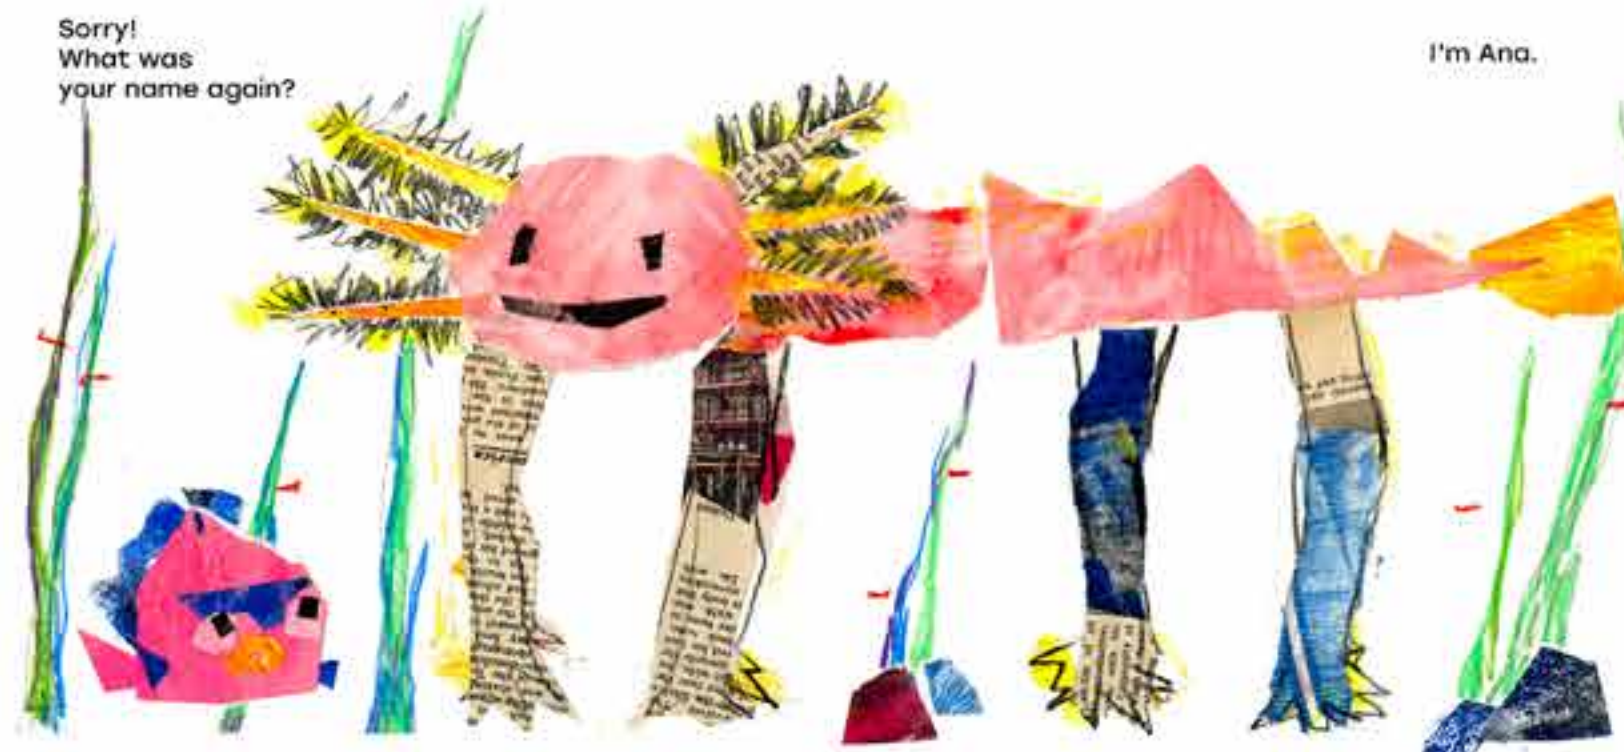

For BOOKMARKS 2025 at Edinburgh College of Art, I developed the key visual and produced the poster, bookmarks, and Instagram assets for the university's official promotion.

7 seconds

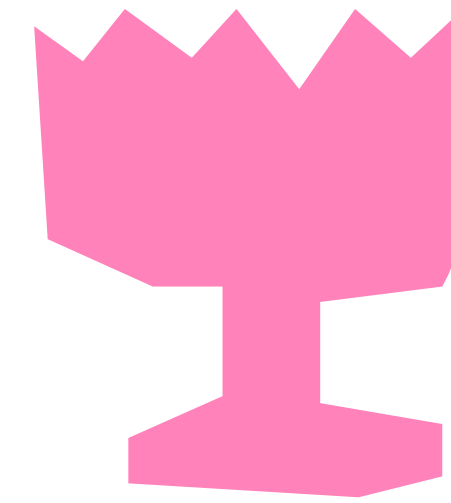

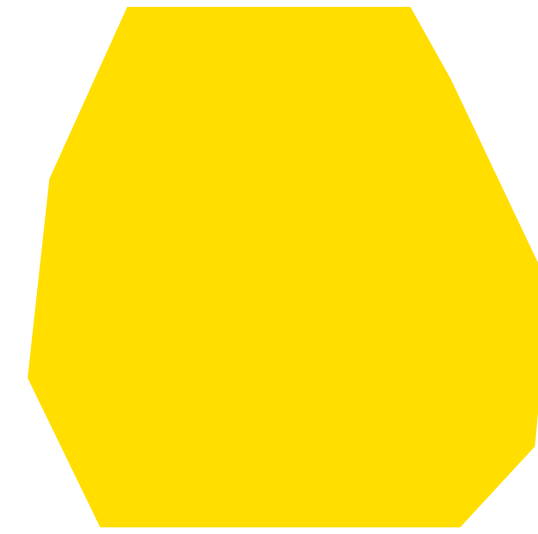

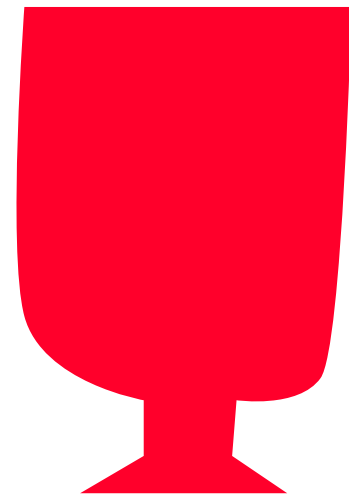

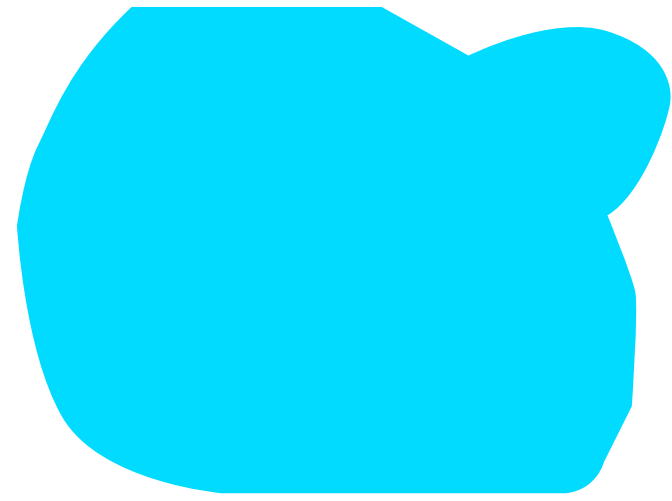

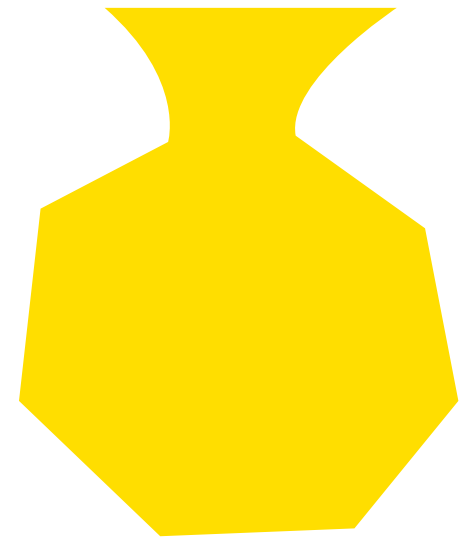

A picture book titled 7 Seconds about a fish starting kindergarten. Every seven seconds, it forgets its classmates' names and asks again, over and over.
